Fund manager's report

October was a weak month for sterling corporate bond markets. Investment grade spreads widened for the third consecutive month, reaching two-year wises. However, total returns were positive, as underlying gilt yields fell. In corporates, cyclical sectors such as construction & materials and automobiles/parts were weak as companies reported disappointing earnings. Banks were more resilient, but more volatile areas such as subordinated insurance sold off amid market softness.

In what was a challenging environment the Fund's relatively conservative positioning led to a satisfying result over the month. Much of the exposure is in investment grade credit which performed reasonably well relative to some of the higher beta asset classes such as emerging markets and high yield corporates. Some of the Fund's exposure to the energy sector detracted modestly while financials and telecoms both added value overall.

The fund has limited interest rate exposure as yields are expected to rise over coming months. Corporate bond markets appear to offer relatively good value and even some of the higher beta sectors are becoming attractive.

Cash includes cash at bank, outstanding settlements, call account cash, fixed deposits, cash used as margin and profit/losses on both derivative positions and forward currency contracts. Where bonds are split rated between two or more of S&P, Moody's and Fitch, the data shown takes a more conservative approach, splitting lower. This may not be consistent with the arrangement agreed in the prospectus, which may detail taking a higher rating where there is a split. In the absence of any agency ratings an internal Fund Manager rating may be applied. The benchmark shown reflects ratings from S&P, Moody's and Fitch only. This may differ from the ratings used by the benchmark provider detailed in the prospectus.

^bThe Ongoing Charge Figure (OCF), is the overall cost shown as a percentage of the value of the assets of the Funds. It is made up of the Annual Management Charge (AMC) of 1.00% and other charges. It does not include any initial charges or the cost of buying and selling stocks for the Funds. The Ongoing Charges figure can help you compare the annual operating expenses of different Funds.

^cThe Distribution Yield reflects the amounts that may be expected to be distributed over the next twelve months as a percentage of the mid-market share price of the fund as at the date shown. The Underlying Yield reflects the annualised income net of expenses and known irrecoverable withholding tax of the fund (calculated in accordance with relevant accounting standards) as a percentage of the mid-market share price of the fund as at the date shown. Both yields are based on a snapshot of the portfolio on the month-end date and are not guaranteed and actual distributions received (where a share class pays distribution) may be higher or lower than the amount stated. They do not include any initial charges and Investors may be subject to tax on distributions. The Distribution Yield is higher than the Underlying Yield because a portion of the fund's expenses are charged to capital. This has the effect of increasing distributions and constraining the fund's capital performance.

Important information

Risk factors you should consider before investing:

- The value of investments and the income from them can go down as well as up and investors may get back less than the amount invested.
- Exchange Rates: The Fund may have holdings which are denominated in different currencies and may be affected by movements in exchange rates. Consequently, the value of the Fund's investments and the income from them may rise or fall in line with exchange rates.
- Bonds: Bond valuations are affected by changes in interest rates, inflation and the creditworthiness of the bond issuer. There is a risk that a bond issuer may not be able to repay the money they borrowed nor make their required interest payments. This risk increases for bonds with lower credit ratings. Where a bond market has a low number of buyers and/or a high number of sellers, it may be harder to sell particular bonds at an anticipated price and/or in a timely manner.
- Derivatives: This Fund can use derivatives in order to meet its investment objective. The use of derivatives may result in greater fluctuations in the value of the Fund, and may increase the magnitude of any losses.
- A full list of risks applicable to this Fund can be found in the Prospectus.
